

Turns

Life is rich for the compulsive, driven to each appointment with his own particular Fate. The part for my Comet, chambered aluminum elegance attaching to the radiator and how I am fussing in its installation, obeying the explicit doctrines of the service manager...NOW, contemplating perfection...ART, well, not quite. Nut... just...one...more...CARE-FUL...turn-nnnn.

The dealership switching from Mercury to Mercedes, I have gotten the last spare.

Other archetypes? The card “easily installed” in my computer: subsequent burning smell of course adjusting people totally wracks.
